

Last week I had challenged myself to ask more questions and ask for more work. On Monday when I arrived to work I had that thought in the back of my mind when someone came by and asked me if I wanted a project, I automatically jumped and said yes! I was so glad and when more staffers asked if I wanted a project I said yes. Because I chose to accept the projects, I was introduced to different issues I didn't know about. The projects kept me busy and because of that I felt very accomplished. As my time in DC is approaching to an end, I'm realizing that I'm really going to miss this city.

This week, I was able to explore: The American Indian Museum, the African Art museum, The Hishhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden, the Freer Gallery of Art Museum, United States Botanic Garden, Washington Monument, National World War 2 Memorial and we were so tired we just walked past the Lincoln Memorial

