

Gabriel R. Angulo

Week 2

Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program

My second week in Washington was an amazing experience that I have not lived prior. Having our “classroom-in-the-field” allowed for my kinesthetic learning preference to be applied, as opposed to relying solely on readings. Camping out and traveling to different locations has allowed me to understand and learn about different ecosystems and cultures. I learned a massive amount of information this week and have become better acquainted with the knowledge and skills to be a better conservationist.
